Night Life in Morocco

Morocco is often touted as having the best nightlife in Africa! Apart from nightclubs that remain open well into the night, especially in Agadir, there are also live music shows and performances. Cabarets are also common in this country. Marrakesh is the best city to visit to make the most of the nightlife, like pubs, bars, and clubs remain open for a long time here. Visit Djemma el Fna Square for a fun night. Casablanca and Tangier are two other cities that promise great nightlife in the form of bars, belly dancing nights and more.

Shopping in Morocco

The most beautiful bit of shopping in Morocco is the traditional souk. It is a riot of colours, voices and people. You will come across lots of items that you can take home as souvenirs at these souks. Souks are present in all towns, the best ones being at Marrakesh and Fez. Rugs, embroidery pieces such as caftans, beautiful lanterns, perfumes and of course spices, can be purchased from here. Of course, malls and shopping complexes are also dotted around the cities. However, visiting the souk makes for an unforgettable experience.

Hygiene in Morocco

Public toilets do exist in Morocco. However, they are not very clean. The toilets inside hotels and restaurants are clean and tourists, of course, prefer to use those. Do not drink water from a tap here, as it is not safe. Hotels provide filtered water for consumption purposes

Festivals of Morocco

The major festivals that are celebrated in Morocco are Ramadan, the Festival of Roses, Gnaoua World Music Festival, World Sacred Music Festival, International Film Festival of Marrakech, Arts in Marrakech (AiM) International Biennale and the Timitar Festival. During this period, Moroccan culture is presented and displayed at its best.
